At present, the Faculty of History and Sociology has 19 classrooms (including two lecture halls), 33 seminar rooms and staff offices.

One of the Institute's lecture halls has been equipped with induction loop, which has improved the quality of education for hearing-aid users.

Students can improve their IT skills in a computer laboratory (8 computer stands and 16 seats). All computers are connected to the Internet via high capacity broadband connection. Moreover, scanners, printers and multimedia projectors are used in a scientific and research work.

Students of our Institute can also use the facilities of the University Foreign Language Center during foreign language courses.
